The gang met up outside the old house. "Let's do this", Toan said, looking at Perl, Dispirito, and Mcquirter. "And remember: no fear". They entered the house.

Perl moved to the airport lounge

Perl moved to the print room

Perl was alone in print room. he felt a chill as the lights dimmed.

Just as Perl became aware of the silence, he heard a sound. It was faint, but distinctly familiar.

"Oh no". horrifying memories came rushing back, and a unbearable sense of terror. "It's a wraith. My greatest fear". The sound was louder now, undeniably a wraith, and accompanied by a screaming person. "Oh no", Perl said, looking for an escape, "it's here". It was louder again, defeaning now; a shaking ruckus. Perl covered his ears and fell.

The lights went out and the room was enveloped in a sharp silence and a terrible cold. Perl, horrified yet relieved, turned around and screamed. he was face-to-face with a rusty wraith. "Oh no". The wraith transformed into it in it's clown form, and Perl was gone.

Toan moved to the attic

Mcquinter moved to the airport lounge

Toan moved to the print room

Toan found a key where Perl went missing. "Interesting"

Dispirito was alone in cry room. they felt a chill as the lights dimmed.

Just as Dispirito became aware of the silence, they heard a sound. It was faint, but distinctly familiar. "Shit". intense memories came rushing back, and a unbearable sense of dread. "It's a gargoyle. My greatest fear". The sound was louder now, undeniably a gargoyle, and accompanied by a ticking clock. "Shit", Dispirito said, looking for an escape, "it's here". It was louder again, deafening now; a ear-splitting echo chamber. Dispirito covered their ears and stumbled.

The lights went out and the room was enveloped in a sharp silence and a unbearable cold. Dispirito, horrified yet relieved, turned around and screamed. they was face-to-face with a bloody gargoyle. "Shit". The gargoyle transformed into it in it's clown form, and Dispirito was gone.

Toan moved to the cry room

Mcquinter was alone in airport lounge. he felt a chill as the lights flickered.

Just as Mcquinter became aware of the silence, he heard a sound. It was faint, but distinctly familiar. "Oh god". sharp memories came rushing back, and a intense sense of horror. "It's a kobold. My greatest fear". The sound was louder now, undeniably a kobold, and accompanied by a beating drum. "Oh god", Mcquirter said, looking for an escape, "it's here". It was louder again, deafening now; a ear-splitting siren. Mcquirter covered his ears and gulped.

The lights went out and the room was enveloped in a unbearable silence and a horrifying cold. Mcquirter, horrified yet relieved, turned around and screamed. he was face-to-face with a ugly kobold. "Oh god". The kobold transformed into it in it's clown form, and Mcquirter was gone.

Toan found a key where Dispirito went missing. "Interesting"

Toan found a key where Mcquirter went missing. "Interesting"

Toan moved to the print room

Toan looked at the keys she had collected. "Wait a minute", she said, noticing a small door on the ground with 4 keyholes, opening it. "Ok, We got this", she said, entering the door, ""I hope it doesn't transform into a plush pony, my greatest fear".

It was there. It was in the form of a clown, with everyone it had captured. "Wait a minute, where'd my keys go?", it said. Toan yelled "hey! over here". The fight begun.

Toan, having got a good hit on the clown, freed Dispirito, who responded with "Thank you!".

Toan, having got a good hit on the clown, freed Perl, who responded with "Thanks!".

Toan, having got a good hit on the clown, freed Mcquirter, who responded with "Thanks!".

With the gang all together, Toan said "Here we go". The monster transformed into a plush pony, but Toan was not scared. The monster transformed into a gargoyle, but Dispirito was not scared. It transformed into a wraith, but Perl showed no fear. It transformed into a kobold, but Mcquirter held his ground. Having scared nobody, it was powerless. The gang closed in on it, ending things once and for all.
